

The FCC should give preference to locally originated programming for LPFM stations. The locally produced educational radio here in Delaware is much better than big market commercial radio or out of market syndicated programming. The local educational stations put the local and statewide election candidates on the air and have meaningful programs and news about our area. Many of the local stations owned by large national chains do not have much local news and are run on auto-pilot after 5pm. They do a poor job compared to the local small stations. LPFM should be all about the local community and NEVER be programmed from outside the local area. The students that run LPFM radio stations for experience are the next generation of journalists for this county. Please create more locally owned and programmed LPFM stations!
